

FIFTEEN CENT PAYMENT ON POOL WHEAT—INTERIM PAYMENT RELEASES $28,000,000 IN WEST OF WHICH ALBERTA POOL FARMERS GET $8,700,000 ON 58,000,000 BUSHELS HANDLED

Winnipeg, March 10.—Nearly $28,000,000 is being distributed today as an interim payment on wheat and flax by the Wheat Pool of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta and the course grain pools of Manitoba and Saskatchewan, according to a statement made by E. B. Ramsay, manager of the central selling agency.

"We are making a straight payment of 15 cents a bushel on all grades of wheat and flax," stated Mr. Ramsay. "The course grain pools made an interim payment in January on barley and rye and on oats, bringing the total already paid on oats up to 50 cents per bushel, 65 cents a bushel for barley and 85 cents a bushel for rye."

Mr. Ramsay revealed in announcing the payment, that over $800,000,000 has now been distributed by the three western pools since the Alberta pool started in 1923.

"Our receipts this year show a large increase in deliveries to the three pools over any previous year and a still greater increase in the amount of grain handled through the pool elevators." In Manitoba, Mr. Ramsay said, where the crop was so badly injured by rust that the wheat yield was almost cut in two, the 50 pool elevators have averaged more than a hundred thousand bushels so far this season, and in Saskatchewan and Alberta the pool elevators should average between 125,000 and 130,000 bushels for the season.

"For the crop year 1927-28 the three pools have handled more than 185,000,000 bushels of wheat, which is nearly 6,000,000 bushels over the entire amount delivered by the three provincial pools to the central selling agency for the crop year 1926-27," he stated.

"The Saskatchewan pool," Mr. Ramsay said, "is mailing cheques to its members today for $17,597,007, as interim payments on 116,378,945 bushels of wheat and 934,831 bushels of flax. For Alberta the figures are $8,700,000 for approximately 58,000,000 bushels of wheat. The Manitoba wheat pool is paying $1,597,763 on 10,651,755 bushels of wheat and $1,198 on 238,171 bushels of flax."

GIVE PROVINCE RIGHT DEVELOP SPRAY LAKES, IS STEWART OFFER

Edmonton, March 13.—Premier J. E. Brownlee has received a letter from Hon. Charles Stewart, stating that he is prepared to issue a license to the province enabling the development of the Spray Lakes as a waterpower reservoir subject to certain conditions.

The three most important conditions are:

Retention by the federal government of remaining mineral rights in the national parks after certain areas embracing waterpower sites and coal areas now under consideration are eliminated from their boundaries.

The Spray Lakes shall not be used as a water reservoir but a tunnel under Spray mountain constructed at once for power purposes.

The flow of water in the Spray river shall not be allowed to go below what the minister may deem necessary to preserve the scenic beauty of the park.

Brownlee Going East

As soon as the legislative session ends, Premier Brownlee is going to Ottawa to discuss these points with Mr. Stewart. Under the natural resources transfer agreement, the province is to obtain all the mineral rights in the parks.

Mr. Brownlee is averse to giving any of these up but will state that the federal parliament should have the say as to what development should take place if any minerals are discovered in the future in the areas remaining in the parks. He is also willing to agree that the Spray Lakes should not be used for a water reservoir wholly in the future, but that the tunnel should be constructed at once as this might interfere with economical development of the project. As for fixing a minimum flow in the Spray, the province proposed a definite figure equal to the flow in the month of September.

Travel didn't broaden any part of our neighbor except her "a."

NO CHANCE NOW THAT MOUNTED POLICE WILL BE IN CHARGE—PREMIER BROWNLEE SAYS NO STEPS TO BE TAKEN AT THIS SESSION

Edmonton, March 10.—Premier J. E. Brownlee informed the Herald Saturday morning that it was now certain the government would take no steps at this session of the legislature to accept the federal proposals for taking over the Alberta provincial police work and placing it under the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

"We find," he said, "that in Saskatchewan where the same proposal was made, they have run up against the same difficulties that we have. These are two, principally: 'First, the question of general law enforcement, and second, the question of liquor act enforcement.'"

"In regard to ordinary law enforcement, the province is charged with the duty of enforcing all laws under the criminal code. This presents difficulties if the force enforcing the laws for which the province is responsible, were in control of an authority not that of the province. As regards the liquor act enforcement, the difficulties surrounding the enforcement of that act by an outside authority are obvious."

"The subject is still under consideration," said Mr. Brownlee, "but as we hope to conclude the session by the end of next week, there can be no possibility of dealing with it within that time."

No New Rail Offers

Mr. Brownlee said there had been no further developments in the matter of negotiations to obtain further offers from the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific for taking over the northern provincial railway lines.

No Redistribution

He also confirmed the story published in last Saturday's Herald that there will be no action on redistribution at this session of the house. While the premier wanted it made plain that the government was not committed to any consideration of adopting the county system in Alberta, he said that subject could well be dealt with at the same time when the question of redistribution was up.

W. C. Act

The premier declined to say whether there was any possibility that the clause bringing the railway running trades under the workmen's compensation act would be withdrawn in view of strong objections voiced in debate on the bill on second reading. "As a matter of fact," he said, "I have not had time to give close consideration yet to all the clauses in the bill myself. As I said in the house, the government is not committed to the act which was drafted simply along the lines of recommendations" by the special committee.

GENERAL CURRIE RETELS STORY OF MONS' LIVES NOT SACRIFICED

Cobourg, Ont., March 10.—(By Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)—"The Canadian troops entered Mons at midnight. The town was cleared at 4:30 in the morning. The armistice was signed at five o'clock and I did not receive notice until a quarter to seven," said General Sir Arthur Currie, in a brief interview here this morning. "We were through Mons and on the other side before the armistice was signed and yet I am accused of sacrificing the lives of Canadians to take the city. Nothing could be more false," continued Sir Arthur.

The former Canadian corps commander came here today to attend the examination for discovery in the suit for alleged libel which he has brought against F. W. Wilson, publisher of the Port Hope Guide, and an article which appeared in the Guide on June 13, 1927.

The Complaint

The article complained of declared that there had been useless sacrifice of human life in order that the Canadian headquarters staff might receive the honor of saying "that Canadians fired the last shot in the war and captured the last German entrenchments."

General Currie made it clear that he did not intend to discuss the action when seen this morning. The story of Mons had been told over and over again, he said. He himself had led in the city of T. T. on August 30, 1919, from the platform of Massey Hall. Now the stage had been reached when the courts will deal with the matter.

Hard to Hold Canucks Back

Not only had there been useless waste of life, Sir Arthur said, but all that the Canadians had done was to straighten out their line and get "a good place to kick off from" before the armistice went into effect at 11 o'clock. There had been no effort to drive Canadian troops into the fray on those last days when the German line was crumbling before the hammer blows of the allied troops.

The difficulty was rather to hold them back. One unit, the Princess Pats, said Sir Arthur, had strenuously objected to leaving the line when their time came to be relieved by other Canadian troops.

The examination today, which is anticipated to be held in private, Sir Arthur will be represented by D. H. Chisholm, K. C., of Port Hope, W. A. F. Campbell, K. C., of Cobourg, and F. Hall, K. C., of Cobourg, are representing the defendants. The write in the action claims $50,000 damages.

NEW GROCERY CHAIN INVADES SOUTHERN ALTA.—JENKINS COMPANY WILL OPEN STORE IN MACLEOD SHORTLY

The grocery store that has been occupied for many years by the Macleod Supply Co., Ltd., and who recently sold out their stock, is being altered, enlarged and made an up-to-date store. When completed it will be occupied by the Jenkins Groceries Co., one of the largest chain store companies in the States and Canada.

The alterations will consist in raising the building to the level of the sidewalk, adding about six feet to the width, thus allowing for making a fine new double window front with door in centre. The interior will be fitted up in the latest style suitable for a grocery business. This store was one of the old-time grocery stores of Macleod, and was conducted some 25 or 30 years ago by Baker and Skelding.

The fact that a company like the Jenkins Groceries have selected Macleod for a branch store, shows that they have confidence in Macleod and district for their class of business.

Fred Morris, the owner of the property, is looking after the alterations, with J. S. Lambert as the contractor.

THE EMPRESS THEATRE --- CURRENT ATTRACTIONS

BELLE OF SCREEN GLITTERS THROUGH SPARKLING SCREEN REVIVAL OF GEORGE ADE'S BIG STAGE SUCCESS—DOLORES COSTELLO WINS PRAISE AS VIVACIOUSLY DE VASTATING HEROINE OF "THE COLLEGE WIDOW"—TRIUMPHS IN COMEDY

George Ade's stage play was the most refreshing and delightful college football play ever written and Warner Bros. screen version catches all the verve and sparkle of the original. Paul Schofield who spearheaded "Beau Geste," "The Poor Nut," "Subway Sadie" and "The Song and Dance Man" did the pictureization with Peter Milne. Dolores Costello, known as the lovely and lovely lady of the picture world—in "The College Widow" takes on a new personality, a gray demureness, which places her high among the great comedienne of this or any day. William Collier, Jr., is the lead. Anders Randolph, Douglas Gerrard, Charles Hill Mailes, Robert Ryan, Sumner Getchell, Big Boy Williams, Grace Gordon and Jess Hixie are in the cast. Archie L. Mayo directed. "The College Widow" comes to the Empress Theatre next Monday and Tuesday.

Whether Bebe Daniels got the idea during her recent illness with influenza is speculation but it is singular to note that the title of her newest starring comedy for Paramount is "Feel My Pulse" which will be at the Empress Theatre—Friday—Saturday this week.

This announcement came today from B. P. Schulberg, associate producer at the Hollywood studio. The role portrayed by the dancing star is a departure from the parts she has been identified with during the last two years.

The story by Howard Emmett Rogers, "Feel My Pulse" concerns the activities of a girl who is a near-invalid in her own mind. Certain situations, however, help her "feel" her pulse.

Production on "Feel My Pulse" was headed by Gregory La Cava and with Richard Arlen opposite Miss Daniels. Other members of the cast are George Irving, Melbourne MacDowell, Charles Sellon, Heinie Conklin and William Powell who does some great work as a bootlegger chief.

BEBE DANIELS IN "FEEL MY PULSE" DOES SOME STRANGE STRONG STUFF—INVOLVED IN FAST MOVING ACTION ABOARD A HIGH SPEED POWER LAUNCH

One of the most difficult scenes photographed for motion pictures was obtained during the making of "Feel My Pulse," Bebe Daniels' latest starring vehicle for Paramount which is showing at the Empress Theatre Thursday—Friday—Saturday.

And, strangely enough, it appears to be the simplest of all.

It consists merely of several "shots" of the star in and out of a motor boat which is moving through the water at a rate of 40 miles per hour and the speedboat, combined with a heavy sea, was responsible for all the trouble.

In the first place, Director Gregory La Cava required a scene which required careful photography free of vibration and with the camera mounted in the bow of the boat head cinema-tographer J. Ray Hunt endeavored to get it. He soon saw that the vibration of the boat was too great. Another craft was chartered with the same result.

Hunt then set to work. He called the property department for an order of springs similar to those used in the ordinary bed and lashed them to the top deck. Then, by a series of weights placed on his tripod, acting as counter-balance, he was able to "shoot" the sequence without any difficulty—that is, not counting a drenching from the sea water.

"Feel My Pulse" is a story of run runners, bootleggers, hi-jackers and a girl played by Miss Daniels who believes herself to be in ill health perpetually.

Another unique feature of the production is that all of the interiors were photographed with the sets illuminated by incandescent lights, an innovation in the industry. Hunt was one of the pioneers in this branch, also.

In support of Miss Daniels in the production are the sturdy and reliable Richard Arlen, William Powell, Charles Sellon, Heinie Conklin, Melbourne MacDowell and George Irving.

ESTHER RALSTON STARS IN NEW TYPE OF PICTURE—ALTHOUGH ACTION IS COMICAL TO AUDIENCE, STAR IS IN QUANDARY

Esther Ralston, who has perhaps, as many admiring fans as the most popular motion picture actress today, appears in "Love and Learn," Paramount's newest picture in which the beautiful star with the golden hair is starred at the Empress theatre on Wednesday and Thursday next.

This production differs somewhat from the type of picture Miss Ralston has been accustomed to, in that she plays a light comedy role. It should not be construed, however, that she is entering the comedy field, with "Love and Learn," but because of the many intriguing

MEMBERS MUST VOTE IF IN HOUSE—NEW LEGISLATURE RULES PASS COMMITTEE—40-MINUTE SPEECHES

Edmonton, March 9.—New rules for the Alberta legislature including a 40-minute time limit for all speakers except cabinet ministers and leaders of opposition, a rule providing for the application of closure and a number of other important changes were agreed to when a bill for revision of rules of the house was passed through committee of the legislature on Thursday night.

Probably the most drastic change in procedure was included in an amendment introduced by L. A. Groulx, Liberal, Groulx. This provided that every member remaining in the house when a division is taken must record his vote. Other words if a member does not wish to vote he must retire from the chamber. Hitherto a member has been free to remain in the chamber, and has not been under any compulsion to vote. The new rule follows the procedure of the Canadian house of commons.

BLAIRMORE JUNIORS LOSE TO REGINA MONARCHS

Thursday's game resulted 7-0 for Regina—Saturday's game 6-1 for Regina. The team representing Alberta from any chance of winning the Western Canada Junior Hockey Championship.

Born in Ayreshire, Scotland, on October 30, 1851, he came to Canada 17 years ago. Prior to coming west in 1880 he graduated from the University of Toronto taking both his B.A. and M.A. degree, after which he completed his theological course at Victoria College and was ordained as a Methodist minister. He went to the prairies, taking up the work of George Macleod, the heroic Methodist missionary who lost his life in a blizzard not far distant from the site of the present city of Calgary.

Dr. Macleod's first circuit comprised almost the whole of what is now the southern half of the province of Alberta. In this big area he served both the Indians and the white settlers, making his long journeys on horseback, and conducting services, baptizing children and solemnizing marriages, as the occasion demanded.

Particularly during his work in the foothills he came into intimate contact with the Indian tribes. He learned their dialects, preached to them in their own languages, and became influential in their councils.

He was regarded as an authority on their languages, and his books and articles on their habits and life won for him wide recognition in historical circles.

Dr. Macleod was always prominent in the work of the Methodist church. He served one term as president of the old Manitoba and Northwest conference, and on numerous occasions acted as chairman of Methodist districts. From 1883 he acted as historian for the Methodist church in the west. In 1892 he served as editor of "The Wesleyan," the official Methodist magazine published in Halifax. Later he was superintendent of Bethel Mission (afterwards Macleod Mission) in Winnipeg, and librarian at Wesley College, Winnipeg.

Among Dr. Macleod's better known publications are: "Canadian Savage Folk," which has been characterized as the leading book on the Indian tribes of the Dominion; "The Indians of Canada," "The Warden of the Plains," "Life of James Evans," "Grammar of the Blackfoot Language," "Vanguard of Canada," etc., etc.

During the war Dr. Macleod's three sons and one son-in-law all served at the front while his daughter saw service as a nurse overseas. He is survived by two sons, Albert and Oswald, and one daughter, Mrs. Harold T. Garden.

REV. DR. JOHN MACLEOD, FAMOUS METHODIST MISSIONARY OF EARLY SOUTHERN ALBERTA DAYS IS DEAD

Winnipeg, March 7.—Rev. Dr. John Macleod, historian, pioneer missionary of western Canada, died here today following an attack of flu. Dr. Macleod, who was 77 years of age, since coming to Canada more than 50 years ago, had been prominently connected with the activities of the Methodist church in Canada.

His Career

Of the picturesque circuit riders of Western Canada's pioneer days, John Macleod made a notable contribution, not only to the cause of religion on the prairies, but to the oratorical life and stability which have replaced the frontier civilization encountered four decades ago. As the missionary to both the whites and the Indians in the far western extremities of the prairies and as the first public school superintendent in the territory now known as Southern Alberta he witnessed the beginnings of the colonial work in this area. The events of this period and those of the latter stages of development he published numerous writings which won for him a place as one of the foremost historians of the Canadian west. As archivist of the Methodist Church in Canada he faithfully recorded the eventful history of his denomination throughout the Dominion.

Born in Ayreshire, Scotland, on October 30, 1851, he came to Canada 17 years ago. Prior to coming west in 1880 he graduated from the University of Toronto taking both his B.A. and M.A. degree, after which he completed his theological course at Victoria College and was ordained as a Methodist minister. WHAT IS BETTER SEED?—THE SEEDS ACT DEFINES FIVE GRADES OF SEED

The Dominion Seeds Act, 1923, which controls the sale of seed, requires same to be sold under one of the following grades: Registered, Extra No. 1, No. 1, No. 2 and No. 3. Seed grading below No. 3 is designated "Rejected" and sale of such is prohibited. All grades shall consist of seed which shall (1) within comparative latitudes for different grades be well matured, plump, sound, sweet, and well cleaned and graded to remove small, shrunk, immature or broken kernels and inert matter; (2) be at least equal in general appearance to standard grade samples that may be fixed from season to season; and (3) comply with minimum standards of purity and germination set forth in tables.

Registered seed, which is the highest grade, is of pure variety, free from all weed seeds or other kinds of grain and of high germination. Such seed is sure to give better results under field conditions, higher yields may reasonably be expected and more uniform maturity, resulting in greater profits for the producer. Extra No. 1 and No. 1 are, respectively, come next. These grades of seed can safely be recommended. The lower grades permit the presence of more weed seeds, other crop seeds and lower germination.

Good seed is cheap at any price and poor seed is dear at any price. Good seed never stops paying you; you never stop paying for poor seed. Weed seeds introduced into the soil through poor seed impoverish the soil, reduce crop yields, increase harvesting and marketing costs and require much hard work and expense to eradicate.

The best for the West is none too good. Use better seed.

G. M. STEWART, District Inspector, Dominion Seed Branch, Calgary.

LOS ANGELES WATER SYSTEM GOES OUT—200 TO 500 LIVES ESTIMATED LOST

Los Angeles, March 13.—The lives of somewhere between 100 and 200 persons were believed to be in great peril today as a wall of water, released when an earthquake broke down the St. Francis dam, 45 miles north of here, rushed earthward to the sea.

Just below the dam, which held 32,000 acre-feet of San Francisco canyon, 75 employees of Southern California Edison company were camping. Twenty-five families living along the narrow stretches of the canyon also may have been in the direct path of the flood. Although first reports did not disclose the size of the break or the amount of water released, telephone advice from Los Angeles were that a ten-foot wall of water was sweeping down the canyon toward Newhall, Saugus, El Rio and other cities north of here.

There was considerable mystery about the earthquake report. It was not felt in Los Angeles nor in Newhall, 20 miles from the dam.

The St. Francis dam was a part of the city's water system. It was a connecting link in the famous 200-mile aqueduct which brings water into Los Angeles from Inyo county, the locale of the "water war" between ranchers and Los Angeles city forces.

Between 200 and 500 Lost

Newhall, Calif., March 13.—William Bright, in charge of the sheriff's squad assigned to police and rescue work in the St. Francis dam disaster, estimated that between 200 and 500 persons lost their lives when the dam went out.

Chaotic Conditions are Recorded

Los Angeles, March 13.—Estimates of the loss of life in the St. Francis disaster compiled by the Los Angeles Times early this morning ran from 200 to 500 persons.

THE EYES OF THE BRAVE

When Commander Richard Byrd sets out on his airplane jaunt to the south pole next fall he will be running into dangers as great as a man can find in this carefully regulated age.

Yet he is having no trouble recruiting companions. On the contrary, more than 200 men have written him asking for places in his expedition. There is no doubt that, if he wanted to, he could raise a force of 10,000 almost overnight.

Much of this is probably due to the nature of his projected trip. There is a fascination about polar exploration, a fascination that must date back to childhood days, when we read thrilling tales of hardy voyagers who were locked in the ice for months on end, and who struggled ashore over treacherous ice floes and made their way to civilization after incredible hardships.

But more potent than that, probably, is the glamour that has invested Byrd himself.

In the middle ages, great heroes—all great heroes—were warriors in those days—swiftly gathered around them numbers of ambitious fighting men. There was a sort of common agreement that a man could get the most out of life by attaching himself to some famous fighter, sharing dangers with him and, as it were, imbibing with him the same sharp zest that life gives to the adventurous.

It seems as if the same sort of motive were active now.

For they are glamorous men, these Byrds and Lindberghs and Chamberlins. It would seem that they have found some secret that the rest of us have not discovered. They must have clearer eyes than the rest of us, so that they can see clearly that the great prizes of life are not peace and soft contentment, but danger and hardship and the peril of sudden death!

Length of days does not seem to interest them greatly. They prefer to concentrate their lives into brief episodes, by risking greatly and daring greatly, they know that they will live intensely and fully. The highest gifts of life, for them, do not flourish in crowded cities or in peaceful, sunlit valleys; rather they are to be found in the darkness, in the cold, over the ocean or down under the world in the land of eternal ice.

And who can say that these men are wrong? Perhaps the 200 young men who asked Byrd for permission to accompany him to the south pole were wiser than we think. To face the ultimate realities of danger and hunger and death; to face them voluntarily with a smile, for no prize but the consciousness that one's manhood is being tested; this, perhaps, is as good a way to use life as can be found.

ENGLAND AND AMERICA

So much has lately been said and written in United States that would indicate a growing feeling of dislike, throughout the republic, against Britain and the British Empire, that an editorial, entitled "England," just printed in the Daily Journal of Commerce of Seattle, is refreshing.

This article says: "It is, perhaps, worth while remembering that the American who learns nothing from a study of the English people cannot be said to aid much in the solution of his own country's problems."

"In spite of the demagogue—and the demagogue is having his day in England just now—the people seem to have a stability of commonsense, which is even more valuable than a training in economics. The permanent destiny of mankind is to work and, to some extent, to suffer, and the less work the more suffering. Work, and nothing else and nothing less, is man's salvation. England is working to come back—every man with red blood in his veins should help her. The Anglo-Saxon race has its back against the wall in England. We, the prosperous United States, also Anglo-Saxons, must not forget this."

Such statements as this, published in a reputable journal for the perusal of responsible men, is a timely reminder that England and America are drifting apart only in the blatant oratory of loud-mouthed politicians of the William Hale Thompson type.

If we were to take the ebullience of these fellows at their face value, we could only conclude that the Anglo-Saxon race was being disrupted by insidious hatreds. But we are misled by the noise they make. Because the hysterical mischief-makers like "Big Bill" and that seafaring gentleman in Washington who recently predicted war between Britain and America do the loudest talking, it is easy to be led into the fallacious notion that their views represent the views of the American people.

But, happily, that is not the case. The jingoos may stir up a dark cloud of hatred, jealousy and suspicion, but underneath that could the responsible people in Britain and the responsible people in United States like and trust each other. They are determined that nothing shall arise to weaken these affiliations.

This kindly and neighborly editorial in the Seattle Journal of Commerce helps to make that position clear.

HE HADN'T TIME

(Commented to persons afflicted with hurryitis)

He hadn't time to greet the day.
He hadn't time to laugh or play;
He hadn't time to wait a while,
He hadn't time to give a smile;
He hadn't time to glean the news,
He hadn't time to dream or muse;
He hadn't time to train his mind,
He hadn't time to be just kind;
He hadn't time to see a joke,
He hadn't time to write his folk;
He hadn't time to eat a meal,
He hadn't time to deeply feel;
He hadn't time to take a rest,
He hadn't time to act his best;
He hadn't time to help a cause,
He hadn't time to make a pause;
He hadn't time to pen a note,
He hadn't time to cast a vote;
He hadn't time to sing a song,
He hadn't time to right a wrong;
He hadn't time to send a gift,
He hadn't time to practice thrift;
He hadn't time to exercise,
He hadn't time to scan the skies;
He hadn't time to heed a cry,
He hadn't time to say good-bye;
He hadn't time to study poise,
He hadn't time to repress noise;
He hadn't time to go abroad,
He hadn't time to serve his God;
He hadn't time to lend or give,
He hadn't time to really live;
He hadn't time to read this verse,
He hadn't time—he's in a house—
He's dead!—Grenville Kleiser.

GROWTH AND DEVELOPMENT OF THIS COMMUNITY

Remember Then That:

The business of a town is its very life-blood.

The stores and business houses are not alone for the merchants.

Prosperous merchants will make the community prosper. The more buyers there are in a town, the greater "turn over" the merchants will have, and thus the more they will be able to reduce prices and increase the quality of the goods they sell.

Thus By Trading at Home with the home town merchants the people of Macleod become the builders of their own community.

No True Citizen

will stunt the natural growth and expansion of his home town by fostering the mail order business of far away communities.

GOOSE RAISING ON THE FARM

Goose raising is a very profitable side line for the farmer. Essentials to success in this line of poultry farming are proper selection of good strong females in the autumn and confine the small flock in a suitable house during the winter months. Have all other geese removed from the building if you are making up a new mating.

Feed your geese moderately during the winter months on grain of good quality. About half of the food given during the time snow is on the ground should be green food such as clover or alfalfa hay which has been cut green, well cured and stored so as to preserve the leaves. Geese take very kindly to green food and it provides bulk to the ration and assists in keeping the birds from getting over fat during the winter.

A little extra feeding in early March will stimulate egg production. Laying should commence about March 15th providing the spring is beginning to open up. Gather the eggs regularly and keep them in a moderate temperature of about 50°.

When the goose becomes broody give her about ten eggs and put the balance under hens. Moisture the eggs daily after the 14th day. The period of incubation is 31 days. During that time feed and water the broody birds regularly. Do not disturb the goose at hatching time.

Leave the young brood alone for about two days after hatching. Place a green sod near the nest to induce them to start feeding of their own accord. Water should also be provided in a shallow pan. Give the goslings moist bread crumbs for the first few feedings and then start with moist mash. Equal parts cornmeal, barley meal, bran and shorts make an excellent mixture.

Feed the goslings about five times daily for the first month, then three times daily. Good succulent pasture should always be available if goose raising is to be made profitable.

BROODING AND FEEDING OF BABY CHICKS

Brooding: The first consideration in brooding is a suitable building for the purpose. Prior to building a brooder house at the Scott Station a small shed-roof colony house served the purpose. This colony house was sheeted inside and the air-spaces between the studding and rafters were packed with prairie wool. The floor was double-boarded and the outside of the building was banked above the floor level with soil. A similar building could be used on the average farm. For the brooding of chicks in the early spring it is necessary to have a building which the wind will not penetrate in order to maintain an even temperature. The temperature near the floor and about three feet from the stove should be 85 degrees Fahrenheit during the first week. After this time if the stove is well regulated the chicks may serve as a thermometer by the way in which they move about. If they are well scattered the temperature is satisfactory but if they begin to draw near the stove or huddle together the temperature is too low. The hard coal burning brooder stoves are used exclusively at the Scott Station with good satisfaction. During average weather in March or early April one hundred pounds of hard coal is usually sufficient for a 500-chick brooder stove for one week.

Feeding: The chicks are taken from the incubator on the 22nd day and nothing but water is given them for at least 48 hours. They are given some coarse sand to pick at before feeding. The first feed given is equal parts of finely cracked wheat, corn and hulls: oats fed dry on a smooth floor or a paper. The quantity given is one ounce per fifty chicks five times per day. At the end of the first week a dry mash is used to replace one of the five feeds each day. This mash consists of one part bran, one part shorts, one part oat chop, one part cornmeal, one-half part beef scrap and one-quarter part bone meal. It is left before the chicks only a few minutes at first and longer each time until at the end of three or four weeks it is placed in a hopper where the chicks may take it at will. In addition to this mash cracked grain is fed in the litter twice per day. If a daily supply of milk is available the beef scrap may be omitted from the mash but the milk must be either sweet or sour every day and not alternating from one to the other. Fresh clean water should be kept before the chicks at all times.

Keen Interest in Better Livestock Train

More than two thousand farmers in the southern part of Alberta have visited the special livestock demonstration train being operated jointly by the Provincial Department of Agriculture, and the Canadian Pacific Railway. During the past three weeks the train has made stops at Macleod, Monarch, Kipp, Diamond City, Iron Springs, Picture Butte, Turin, Coaldale, Taber and Sterling, and an average of over two hundred farmers have been in attendance at the meetings held at each of those points. The tour will continue for a further three weeks during which time lectures and demonstrations will be given at seven other points.

Record Price for Seat on Stock Exchange

A record high price of $1,000 was paid during the past week for a seat on the Calgary Stock Exchange, by Solloway Mills & Co., of Toronto. This company plans to open a branch office in Calgary as part of their continent-wide service to investors.

Manitoba May Use Alberta Tar Sands

Large quantities of Alberta tar sands may be used during the coming summer in connection with an extensive program of road building to be undertaken in the province of Manitoba. Representatives of Alberta Tar Sands companies have been in negotiations with Manitoba authorities for some time, and the plan under consideration involves the erection of a plant at McMurray or some other point adjacent to the deposits, where the tar can be extracted from the sand in order to reduce the cost of transporting this road building material.

To Hold Institute of Co-operation

An Institute of Co-operation will be held at some point or points in Alberta during the coming summer, it is announced by Hon. George Headley, Minister of Agriculture, and Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Provincial Wheat Board Fund. The report of the Board of Trustees as submitted during the past week to the Legislature shows that Alberta received $112,000 from this source. Of this amount $10,431 of interest has been added, and the only expenditure last year was $1,451 with which a delegation was sent to a co-operative institute in Chicago.

It is proposed to carry on the coming year in investigations thus begun and to make a careful study of approved co-operative methods in both production and marketing, which will be applicable to Alberta conditions. Arrangements are being made to have the institute addressed by speakers who are experts on various phases of co-operation in both Canada and the United States.

To Open C. N. R. Depot At Edmonton, March 17

Arrangements have been completed for the official opening of the new C. N. R. depot at Edmonton on Saturday, March 17th. It is announced by W. A. Brown, General Superintendent of the C. N. R. Alberta division, S. J. Hungerford, vice-president in charge of operation; W. A. Kingsland, manager of western lines, and other officials of the company.

Provincial Savings Certificates Popular

Alberta Provincial Saving Certificates have proved a popular form of investment since the first of the year. According to officials of the Treasury Department, the gross sales amounted to $1,188,912 in January, and $595,208 in February, and allowing for withdrawals the net business to the end of the first week in March totals $808,977.

The efforts of fish and game associations to protect fish and game birds throughout the province will be extended as a result of the organization of a unit of the association at Medicine Hat during the past week. Interest will be taken in the steps to re-stock Alberta lakes and

A large number of British settlers will be coming to Alberta during the next three months, states E. M. Johnston, district superintendent of the Land Settlement Board at Edmonton, whose office is arranging for the handling of these newcomers. Some two hundred boys are expected from the training schools established by the British Ministry of Agriculture in various parts of England and Scotland, where 'teen age boys are given a six months' course of training on farms equipped with Canadian machinery and implements. In addition a considerable number of married couples as well as single men and women listed as farm laborers and domestics are included in the emigrants from Great Britain destined for this province.

Pool Official Returns from Old Country

Everything is now in readiness at the London Office of the Wheat Pool to assist in the handling of this year's crop and there is every indication that the pool will be able to do a large business notwithstanding certain opposition there, states R. A. Macpherson, one of the directors of the Alberta Wheat Pool, who has just returned from the Old Country after establishing an office of the Canadian Wheat Pool in London. Mr. Macpherson also visited the continent where the pool now has twenty-six agents at various centres handling pool wheat.

HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION — NO CHILD NEED DIE OF DIPHTHERIA

In Canada, during the year 1926, there occurred 322 deaths from Diphtheria. This represents a tremendous amount of suffering, both bodily and mental, the loss of precious lives, and the physical damage of many that recovered; in addition, the resultant expense might be mentioned.

This is a deplorable condition when it is realized that we know as much, if not more about Diphtheria than we do of any other disease. The germ that causes it is known, its method of spread is understood, there is a specific cure for it and, best of all, there is a satisfactory and effective means of prevention.

The question that naturally arises is that if such be the case, why do so many cases and deaths continue to occur? The answer to this question is that whilst we have a cure and a preventive, they are not being used by everyone, and until they are, cases and deaths will continue to occur.

Diphtheria antitoxin is a specific cure if given, in sufficient amount, on the first day of the disease. Deaths occur when this is not done. Cure depends upon securing prompt treatment. The usual reason for delay is that parents wait until tomorrow to see if the child is better before calling the doctor.

Injections of diphtheria toxoid (Anatoxine-Ramon) or of toxinantitoxin will develop, in the individual injected, a resistance to Diphtheria (immunity), similar to the resistance developed amongst those who recover from an attack of the disease. As Diphtheria deaths occur

At the meeting of Macleod Board of Trade executive held on Monday evening last the matter of discrimination against Macleod as regards merchandise purchasing, etc., by the Blood Indian Agency was discussed, and it was decided to appeal to Duncan Scott and Hon. Chas. Stewart against such a condition of affairs.

Last week Mrs. J. Swinerton, president of the Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's Church, and Mrs. J. D. Matheson, vice-president, called on Mrs. Morris at her home and presented her with a beautiful Crown Derby cake plate and cups and saucers, from the members of the Ladies' Aid in appreciation of her services to the Aid and the church. The case of Gordon Spence charged with burning the Alberta Pacific Elevator at Glenwood on January 9th, came to an abrupt termination at noon Wednesday, when Mr. Justice Ives, at the close of the crown's evidence, took the case away from the jury, and dismissed the accused forthwith. His Lordship in his statement to the jury said that there was absolutely no evidence to convict the accused in any way. In a charge of arson there must be direct evidence against the accused, and also the reason for taking this away from the jury is that there must be evidence against the accused for the jury to consider, and in this case there is none whatsoever. His Lordship discharged Spence without any further remarks, and the Court adjourned until ten o'clock Thursday morning.

ADVICE TO FLAPPERS
Betty says: When you go out with a flat tire take a little jack along— "Good Times."

A hick town is a place where you aren't speeding because the traffic cop is a relative of yours or your wife's.

If you're afraid to be seen with the lower class, lest people think you aren't upper class, you're middle class.

The character of the S. E. Gust Stores—the quality of our foods and the superior service of the Gust salesmen—is best indicated by the type of people who patronize them. Most of our patrons could easily afford to pay more than we ask if, by so doing, they could get better goods, greater values or more satisfactory service. The fact that the thrifty and discriminating of all classes—regardless of social, occupational or financial status—prefer our stores is conclusive proof that they can serve you better, too.
